Ring Road lights: MUDA to pay MCC Rs. 12 crore

MCC to replace bulbs, restore wires, maintain streetlights and pay power bills

Relief soon for daily commuters travelling on the pitch-dark 42-km stretch

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (RK&BCT)- Increased crime rate, accidents, repeated complaints by residents and commuters and fervent appeals by the Police have forced the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) to come up with a plan of action to keep the streetlights on the Ring Road glowing every night, 365 days.

Every year, just days after Dasara, street lights along the six-lane Outer Ring Road (ORR) are switched off, plunging the 42-km-long carriageway into darkness, endangering the safety of people using the motorway and residents of layouts beyond the road.

MP Pratap Simha, MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev, MCC Commissioner Lakshmikantha Reddy, MUDA Commissioner Dr. D.B. Natesh and other officers during the meeting on the Ring Road streetlights in city yesterday.

For Dasara, usually the District Minister decides that both MUDA and MCC will foot the bill at the rate of 50:50 ratio. Whenever the lights are off, the Ministers, elected representatives and officers face intense public criticism and embarrassment.

Now after years of switching the responsibility on each other, the MCC and MUDA have come to an understanding that the MUDA will pay the MCC Rs. 12 crore to replace the bulbs, rodent-eaten wires and other cabling works.

Cycle rally, painting events mark World Sparrow Day

Hundreds of bamboo and earthen bowls distributed to keep water and grains

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (RK, PM & BCT)- Every year, Mar. 20 (today) is observed as World Sparrow Day to raise awareness about the bird.

The need for marking this day is pertinent due to the tremendous decrease in sparrow population.

A few years ago, house sparrows were commonly seen in people's homes. As a result of rising noise pollution, the bird is now on the verge of extinction. The theme of World Sparrow Day is "I Love Sparrows."

As part of the World Sparrow Day, many events are being organised in Mysuru, in and around Lakes and other green spaces.

Apart from many painting and essay competitions, a cycle rally and free distribution of bamboo bowls were organised.

The day began with a cycle rally from the Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple till Kukkarahalli Lake. MLA L. Nagendra flagged off the rally.

Former Mayor Sandesh Swamy, Karnataka Exhibition Authority Chairman Hemanth Kumar Gowda and others were present.

The rally was organised by Parisara Snehi Team and KMPK Trust.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

In some contexts, dynastic politics continue to flourish, but for the Congress, it has become a huge burden to carry. It is not that the party will miraculously revive if all three members of the Gandhi family move away from the party, as Ms. Gandhi suggested before the Congress Working Committee meeting on Sunday. What is clear is that the current arrangement that involves Ms. Gandhi as titular head, and her children functioning as two unaccountable power centres, has become untenable. Whether the Congress party has the capacity to hold itself together without the ritual of deifying the family remains an open question, but it can no longer shy away from making an honest effort to explore the possibilities of an alternative leadership that is more accountable and accessible. The Gandhis too must reflect upon their competence and utility for the Congress. The proposed brainstorming must focus on the existential crisis that stares at the party, and should not be used as yet another opportunity to find excuses to maintain the status quo. The party had appointed a committee to examine the causes of its performance in the 2021 Assembly polls in five States/Union Territory. The report was submitted, but rather than discuss it, the party chose to lock it away. The party must look for ideas and leaders from within its ranks to attempt a revival. It is an uphill task and anything short of a brutally honest introspection is doomed to fail at the outset.

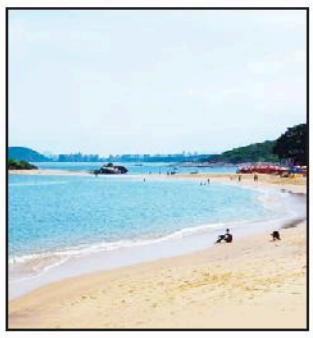
Areia Prata: The radioactive beach of Brazil



Rio: The Areia Preta beach in the Brazilian city of Guarapari is famous for its black sand which has external radiation levels of almost 400 times the normal background radiation recorded in the US.

The sand in this region, particularly the black sand, contains moderate quantities of monazite, a phosphate mineral rich in several rare-earth elements, including uranium and thorium. Research has shown that background radiation on Areia Preta can reach 175 mSv per year, or 20 µSv/h, while some spots, particularly those with lost of black sand, have radiation levels of up to 55 µSv/h. To put that into perspective, the average radiation exposure level across the United States is about 0.34 µSv/h, while an X-ray gives people a one-time exposure to about 100 µSv.

Snake uses farts as a defence mechanism!

New York: The western hook-nosed snake, a small snake endemic to the deserts of the United States and Mexico, is famous for the shape of its snout and for farting to confuse its enemies.

The western hook-nosed snake relies on a more unusual defence mechanism – farting. When threatened, it emits rumbling air bubbles from the cloaca – the common opening for excretion at a snake's rear end. This strange means of defence is designed to confuse predators for the snakes to escape.

This snakes produce farts by using two sets of muscles to isolate a compressed pocket of air and then contract the cloacal sphincter to forcefully expel it.

The farting sound can travel up to 6'6 ft., it's only about two-tenths of a second long and is usually repetitive.

Optimisation of city bus routes need of the hour

Sir,

We are seeing electric buses under the Bus Rapid Transit System (BRTS) in various cities of India, but our Mysuru City bus service is still way behind. Forget electric buses, even the basic buses in Mysuru is decade-old except for the addition of a few Volvo buses and new fleet.

Some of the flaws in Mysuru bus system are:

1. Pure Hub-Spoke Model with all the buses passing through City Bus Stand (CBS) and almost 90 percent buses ending its journey there. There are no routes except if I remember Route No. 10, which does not go via CBS. Even to travel from Vidyaranyapuram to Kuvempunagar, one has to go via CBS — Why not circular routes interconnecting areas? It still remains a distant dream.

Routes connecting opposite ends of the city, if possible passing through CBS with a good frequency (like the current 80 route, although with less frequency) can help commuters.

2. Buses have to roam around the Palace to enter Bus Stand which is around 1 to 1.5 kms extra, costing diesel and time — Why not make a contra flow lane from Sanskrit Patashala towards CBS allowing buses to be on right lane to enter CBS and from CBS towards Palace to exit CBS near Town Hall. This might need a bit of road widening, but worth the effort.

3. Railway Station and Suburban Bus Stand are not well connected. A passenger alighting at Suburban Bus Stand has to walk towards Taluk Office to catch the bus to CBS, unless the traveller is North bound like Vijayanagar / Udayagiri etc. — Why not bus stop near Suburban Bus Stand arrival area towards CBS with two Bus Bays, one for Inter-City buses and another for City buses, just like done in Mandya.

4. Major roads of the city like Mahadevapura Road, Hunsur Road , Bannur Road are seeing surge in people movement. Frequent and quick buses on these routes can help commuters.

5. Majority of the educational institutions lie between JLB Road and CBS like Maharaja High School, Marimallappa, Sadvidya, Maharani etc. Students have to travel a long way to CBS by walking. A small circular bus service during peak hours connecting Suburban Bus Stand, Railway Station, Maharaja College, Marimallappa - Sadvidya Junction - 100 feet road can help students a lot to connect to their buses at CBS / Suburban Bus Stand or even take a train at Railway Station.

6. A comprehensive study by any reputed voluntary organisation or even an Engineering College Computer Science Department and analyse the data using the current ITS information to schedule and augment buses.

Our elected representatives are also sitting silent on optimising city buses but they talk about bringing Metro which would be a White Elephant for Mysuru.

Year's first rain disrupts normal life

Heavy downpour and gusty winds uproot trees, electric poles

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (MK&KS)- The year's first rain in city yesterday, disrupted normal life and the heavy downpour, accompanied by gusty winds, brought down a couple of trees and electric poles.

As many as three trees and over 10 electric poles came crashing, disrupting traffic.

The rain commenced at about 5.30 pm and the gusty winds uprooted a large tree opposite Ashokapuram Police Station on Adichunchanagiri Road in Kuvempunagar. A Maruti Swift car (KA-09-Z-3307), which was parked under the tree was damaged as the tree fell over it. Luckily, three occupants of the car escaped miraculously.

MCC's Abhaya team - 3 staff and CESC personnel chopped down the branches of the huge tree and freed the car. They later cleared the tree and made way for smooth flow of traffic.

A couple of coconut trees were uprooted in Kesare 3rd Stage and Ayarahalli bringing down a few electric poles along with them. A total of 10 electric poles were damaged in N.R. Mohalla, Ayarahalli and other localities in city. There is no loss of lives due to snapping of power lines, said CESC Executive Engineer B.K. Yogesh to SOM.

Following snapping of power lines and damage to electric poles, areas such as Kuvempunagar, Udayagiri, Alanahalli, Alanahalli Layout, Siddarthanagar, Giridarshini Layout, Rajivnagar and surrounding places plunged into darkness.

The rain which poured for more than a hour resulted in drains overflowing from rain water, bringing garbage such as plastic covers, dry leaves on to the roads. Roads such as D. Devaraj Urs Road, Sayyaji Rao Road, Hunsur Road, Bannur Road and the road from Gopala Gowda Hospital to Chamundi Vihar Stadium resembled small streams and due to clogged drains, rain water remained stagnant at K.R. Circle, Metropole Hotel Circle, Dasappa Circle and other circles and junctions.

Motorists, especially two-wheeler riders had a tough time navigating through rainwater-filled roads and circles. The sudden downpour caused roadside vendors to flee to dry places and they were seen covering fruits, vegetables, flowers and other articles with plastic sheets to prevent them from getting spoiled.

The overflowing rainwater from clogged drains, entered low lying areas such as Kanakagiri and Gundu Rao Nagar and even entered a few houses, said MCC staff.

Heavy rains were also reported at Kodagu, Mandya, Chamarajanagar and Hassan.

Girl killed as tree falls near Srirangapatna

A girl was killed while her parents sustained injuries when a coconut tree fell on the bike due to heavy rains between Maralagala and Dodda Palya on Bannur-Srirangapatna Road near Srirangapatna last evening.

The deceased girl is Priyanka (12), a resident of KRS and her father Nagaraju, who has sustained serious injuries, has been admitted to K.R. Hospital in Mysuru where he is said to be battling for life. Nagaraju's wife and son have also sustained injuries.

The incident took place when Nagaraju and his family were proceeding on their bike. When they were nearing Srirangapatna, a coconut tree fell on the bike killing Priyanka on the spot and injuring others.

The tree also fell on a car and luckily, the car occupants had a miraculous escape. Srirangapatna Police have registered a case.

Over 350 to 400 youths participated in the rally which passed through Jayachamarajendra Circle (Hardinge Circle), Dasara Exhibition, Chamaraja Double Road, Maharaja College Grounds, Krishnaraja Boulevard and Kautilya Circle to reach Kukkarahalli Lake.

Participants including children, women and senior citizens expressed concern about the conservation of the common house sparrows, which are increasingly vanishing due to urbanisation, high pollution levels, global warming and loss of ecological resources among other reasons.

They came forward to celebrate the bond that humans have had with sparrows in the past and pledged to do more for nature and protect the bird that are now on the verge of extinction. T-Shirts and certificates were distributed to all participants. KMPK Trust President Vikram Iyengar, Parisara Snehi Team President Lohit, Congress leader Naveen Kumar and others were present.

Bamboo and earthen bowls distributed

A programme was organised at the Karanji Lake where innovative bamboo bowls and earthen bowls were distributed to the NG0s, philanthropy groups and individuals to help birds quench their thirst in the scorching heat. The event was organised by People for Animals (PFA) and city-based Jeev Daya Jain Charity (JDJC).

Deputy Conservator of Forests, MM Hills Wildlife Division V. Yedukondalu and Sumanthilaji Pagariya, Chairperson of Mysore Pinjrapole Society were the guests. Activists of JDJC and PFA distributed hundreds of earthen and bamboo bird houses, bamboo bird feeders and earthen water bowls to the public.

In his address, Yedukondalu discussed how due to our materialistic life we forget nature, adding that in our childhood we used to wake up by melodious chirping of sparrows, but these things were memories now.

Discussing the ways we can save sparrows, he said, "Befriend them. Keep a bowl of water and some grains for sparrows to feed on. Plant trees in and around your homes to create shelters for them or keep bird feeders outside your house. Do not use chemical insecticides and pesticides in your garden as it is harmful."

The participants felt that the only way to bring the sparrow back is by people's participation to do their bit to create a harmonious space for the house sparrow to coexist with human beings. Advisory Board Member of PFA Kokila R. Jain, PFA Managing Trustee Savitha Nagabhushan and others were present.

To create awareness and sensitise the residents of Kurubarahalli and Siddhartha Layout, PFA will campaign for sparrows today at 4 pm at MRC Eye Hospital in Siddhartha Layout.

Prof. H.N. Aswathanarayana: A mentor who is no more!

Pic. 1: Prof. Aswathanarayana as a NCC Officer at a camp. Pic. 2: Capt. Aswathanarayana receiving an award from the MP Shri. B. Rachaiah in 1977. Pic. 3: Mentor in his later years.

In the recent passing away of Prof. H.N. Aswathanarayana, a former Professor of Mathematics at the St. Philomena's College, I have lost a mentor and a very fine man whom I had known over the last fifty years. We first met in the year 1970 when I got admitted to the College for my PUC. Although I was not a student of Mathematics, I had an occasion to listen to his one-hour introductory lecture about the need for students to join the National Cadet Corps (NCC) to inculcate discipline and the spirit of nation building.

Holding a Captain's rank at that time and being the NCC Officer of our College, through this very inspiring maiden lecture, he made a splendid case in impressing upon our young minds the advantages of joining his fold, which resulted in many of us volunteering to get enlisted. Having already been a member of the Bharath Scouts and Guides for three years as a High School student, I naturally did not need much coaxing to wear the starched uniform once again and so I immediately joined the 15 Karnataka Infantry NCC Battalion, where I remained for the next two years.

After that, all through our NCC days, we would eagerly wait for Sundays to come because that was the day of the weekly parade at our College. That was also the day for much vigorous physical activity followed by much fun and camaraderie over a hearty, outdoor breakfast! Some of us would be there in uniform well before time because we would want to be present to receive Prof. Aswathanarayana at the door of the cellar under the Chemistry Lecture Hall where he had his windowless office. The moment we heard the faint roar of his Jawa motorcycle in the distance, we would all spring to attention to receive him with our crisp salutes and then jostle with one another for the privilege of pushing his 1969 model 250cc bike, with its registration number, MYM 8284 and parking it inside the dark and humid cellar!

MYSORE

The Certificate issued by Prof. Aswathanarayana to the author.

After the rest of the troop members turned up at the ground behind the Science Block, the parade would start with Prof. Aswathanarayana, looking every inch a tough-as-nails Officer, shouting the commands in his booming voice, which rings in my ears even to this day! Although a strict disciplinarian, who would show no lenience in punishing late-comers, he was actually a most kind-hearted man when it came to choosing the kind of penalty that he meted out to them.

So, instead of the most preferred and most deterrent regimental punishment of crawling across the field on knees and elbows, which would sometimes leave them bruised and bleeding, it would invariably be a mild and only symbolic one with an order to run three rounds around the perimeter of the not too large field. For the very late arrivals, it would be an order to run with the ancient 303 Enfield rifles held aloft, because by that time the rifles would have been brought out of the armoury and issued to the cadets!

Our armoury, with its round-the-clock Police security picket, was located in another dark and damp cellar under the Arts Block. With its array of different versions of battle rifles, including a couple of Light Machine Guns (LMGs) and a solitary 9mm Sterling Carbine, the armoury, which was in army parlance called an Arms Kot, used to be a very fascinating place for me. All through my NCC years, I would therefore always volunteer to assist the Army Jawans and Junior Commissioned Officers (JCOs) during their periodic weapon cleaning and oiling ritual.

Although the elaborate process used to be quite rigorous because it involved using a device called a 'pull-through' to clean and polish the interiors of the barrels and it would leave me sweating and smeared with grime, I used to love it!

I had the occasion to attend many NCC training camps under the leadership of Prof. Aswathanarayana and at the Combined Annual Training Camp at K.R. Nagar in 1970, he even recommended that I be allowed to fire a Light Machine Gun (LMG) during a demonstration of the weapon, a privilege normally reserved in the NCC only for Officers and Army personnel. It was one of the most thrilling moments of my life and a Certificate issued by Prof. Aswathanarayana to me, testifies to this fact.

Even after I left the NCC and the College, I continued to be in touch with him and he would take a great deal of interest in knowing about my progress through life. Whenever we met, the two of us would like two friends, instead of a mentor and pupil, spend much time reminiscing about the good old days. But he was such a humble and modest man, that at these many meetings, he never once mentioned that he had actively participated in our freedom struggle and had even been imprisoned for his role in it.

This was something I discovered only from his obituary which I read in the SOM three days ago! When I called up his son Yoganand yesterday morning to convey my condolences to the family, he told me that his father was actually a very secretive man when it came to his achievements and accomplishments. He would never speak about them. The same was the case when it came to talking about his pains and discomforts even with his own family members, which was why they never got even an inkling of the terminal illness that quickly took him away from their midst.

I felt happy to learn that his son Yoganand left a lucrative job elsewhere to be here in Mysuru and look after his parents during their old age. I also felt much relieved to know that he still has his father's good-old motorcycle with him in perfect running condition and that he still rides it regularly. How wonderful! Since he refused to take rest even after his retirement and was actively involved in the management affairs of a College in the city till his very last days, Prof. Aswathanarayana lived his entire life with a sense of purpose and service to society. And, that is why he will be missed by many! May his soul rest in peace. Amen!

Veerashaiva Mutts playing key role in nation's development: Minister

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (RKB&DM)- Maintaining that Veerashaiva Mutts are playing a key role in nation's development, Minister for Law and Parliamentary Affairs J.C. Madhuswamy said that it is important to remember the Founders of educational institutions as it is education which shapes our life and future.

He was speaking after inaugurating the Alumni Association meet of JSS College of Arts, Commerce and Science on Ooty Road at the College premises this morning.

Pointing out that he earned a degree studying at JSS Institutions at a troublesome period, Madhuswamy said that the institution has been playing a vital role in moulding the future of scores of students over the years.

Arguing that educational institutions are like sculptors who carve and chisel our lives through personality and professional development, the Minister said that even though he is a Minister today, he is like a student who needs to study daily as his portfolio demands that.

Lauding the Mutts for 'Akshara Dasoha', 'Anna Dasoha', 'Neralu Dasoha' and the like, he called upon the alumni not to lose contact with their fellow members, as regular contacts and meetings will hugely help in further developing the institution they once studied.

MLC and former Minister A.H. Vishwanath, who presided, said he is proud to say that he was a student of the college, from where he earned his degree.

Recalling his student days at the college, Vishwanath attributed his political growth largely to what he had learned at JSS institutions. Stressing on the need for imparting quality education, the MLC regretted that most of the Universities today are lacking in imparting training to students on how to lead a purposeful life. Contending that JSS is an institution that is free from any caste, creed or religious discrimination, he listed out the names of his teachers and some of his classmates.

Continuing, Vishwanath urged the Government to permit formation of Student Unions in institutions of higher learning as this will help in forging student unity and sharing and exchanging of ideas, knowledge and skills. "I will talk to the Govt. and the CM on the necessity for allowing Student Unions in educational institutions," he added.

Floral tributes were offered to the portrait of late Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Mahaswamiji. Earlier, the College Principal Dr. H.C. Honnappa welcomed the gathering.

College Chief Executive Prof. B.V. Sambashivaiah, faculty Dr. Vijaya Manjuanth Guru and former MLC Prof. K.R. Mallikarjunappa were present.

After the lights are restored, the MCC will maintain the light poles and also pay the electricity bills.

This consensus was arrived at a meeting of Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev, MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy, MUDA Commissioner Dr. D.B. Natesh and other officers. The meeting was held yesterday and the Rs. 12 crore will be allocated to the MCC in the MUDA Budget.

Speaking to SOM, Lakshmikantha Reddy said that this was a long-pending issue which has seen a feasible solution. "Tenders will be called for repairs of street lights within a week and work will start as soon as the tenders are finalised," he said.

The wiring for the poles have been done underground and rats and rodents have eaten away the wires. As all the 2,135 poles have underground wires, a special insulation method is needed to prevent rodents from chewing away the wires.

In all, the MCC will have to procure 4,270 LED bulbs on 2,135 poles. "At some places, the two sides of the poles have bulbs and they will need 120-watt bulbs and the single light poles need 90-watt bulbs. The MCC will maintain the lights and also pay the electricity bills to CESC. It will be burdensome for MCC but we will maintain and foot the bill in the public interest," Lakshmikantha Reddy said.

According to MUDA Chairman Rajeev, the meeting reached a consensus after discussing benefits and drawbacks. "More than anything, public safety is paramount and the Ring Road is infamous for crime and accidents. The city is growing by the day and it has already expanded many kilometres beyond Ring Road," he noted. The provision to hand over Rs. 12 crore to the MCC will be made in the MUDA Budget and after the money is paid, the onus of glowing lights is of the MCC, he added.

The grandeur of Jacaranda

End of Shishir Ritu (winter) brings about remarkable changes in many deciduous trees. Several species would have shed all their leaves to begin the rejuvenation process: the new cycle of life by producing fresh foliage & flowers. Several of these trees begin new life by producing new blossoms on bare branches.

Among these, Jacaranda is the first to appear on stage by initiating blooms, which, in a short time, cover the entire canopy making it the most attractive tree. These trees covered with clusters of trumpet-shaped fragrant, purple blooms often with fallen flowers forming a carpet under the tree makes the sight a painter's delight. None can match the grandeur of Jacaranda!

The tree has been a part of Mysore's landscape for decades. A South America beauty, it is native to Southern Bolivia and Argentina but widely cultivated in the tropics. It is known by common names such as Blue Jacaranda, Brazilian Rose Wood, Trumpet Tree, Black Poui, Nili Gulmohar, Green Ebony. The botanical name is Jacaranda mimosifolia (Bignoniaceae family). The generic name 'Jacaranda' is the Neo-Latin version of the word 'jakara'na', a word in Guarani language spoken by native South American 'Tupi' community, meaning 'fragrant', 'aromatic', 'scented'. It aptly describes the aromatic flowering of the Blue Jacaranda. The specific name 'mimosifolia' is due to its resemblance to leaves of Mimosa (Touch Me Not).

It is a medium sized open crowned deciduous tree, very graceful to look at. The twigs are slender and slightly zigzag and light reddish-brown in colour. The mature bark is thin and grey-brown; smooth when the tree is young; eventually turns into a fissured and cracked bark. Wood scented. The leaves alternate, twice feathered, finely cut and fernlike with numerous pairs of tiny pointed leaflets. They resemble Gulmohar leaves. The flowers tubular (bell shaped), lavender or purple blue, in open clusters at the end of the branches. They fade in to lilac later. Each spray (bunch) carries up to 90 blossoms. The individual flower is about 2" long; Calyx (sepals) 5 lobes, united; Corolla (petals) lobes 5; 4 fertile stamens, dydynamous (2+2) and 1 sterile club shaped "staminode" bearing a dense tuft of bristles; Ovary bicarpellary; Fruit, a dry dehiscent pod, brown, technically called a capsule spontaneously opens into two halves on drying and releases winged seeds. Capsules may hang on the tree for up to 2 years.

GENERAL AND MEDICINAL USES

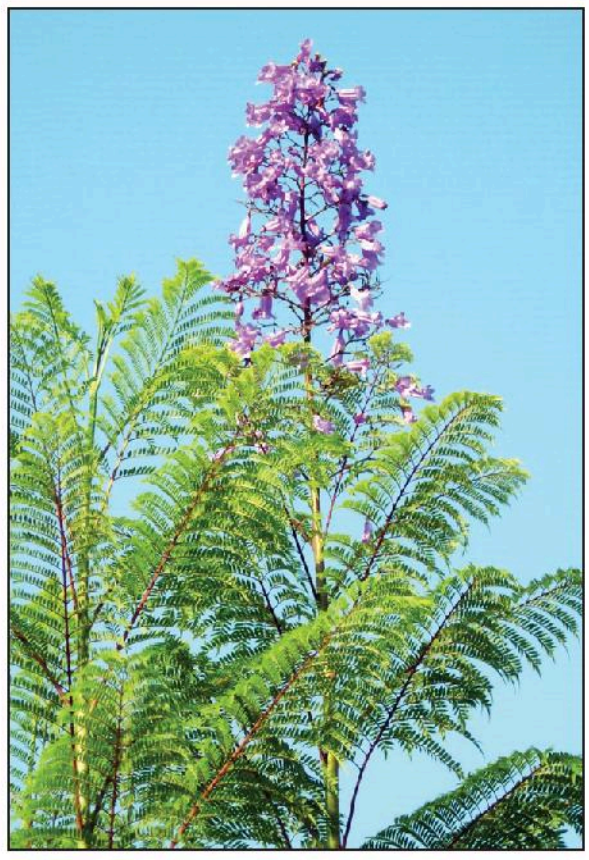
Many look at this tree simply for its ornamental and aesthetic value in landscaping. In reality, it has immense commercial value. The highly valued wood, which is scented & ornamentally streaked (cream and pink toned wood) is commercially known as 'Pallisandre.' The wood, with a pleasant smell, is used in carpentry for cabinet making and in automotive industry for luxury cars.

Medicinal values are immense. In its nativity Jacarandas are used in tribal medicine and historically been used on E-coli as well as Staphylococcus aureus or staph bacteria and found to be effective in the treatment of venereal diseases (syphilis and gonorrhea). Application of Jacaranda extract on syphilitic sores helps them heal fast besides controlling the painful urination accompanied by pus in gonorrhoea patients. The volatile oil obtained from Jacaranda leaves and bark has been found to be effective in the treatment of buboes (swelling in the lymph nodes in groin or underarm characterized by blisters) caused by venereal diseases. The lovely fragrance of Jacaranda flowers are said to work "extra-medicinally" & turn the negative qualities in a person to positive ones. It has been reported that homoeopathy has myriad preparations of Jacaranda. Now, Jacarandas are reported to be used even in Ayurveda and Unani formulations.

USEFUL TIPS

- It is one of the loveliest garden trees with foliage and flowers having their own charm.
- Excellent tree for avenues and parks. Plant them in groups or in a continuous stretch on avenues.
- Propagation: By seeds. Dry the pods in the hot sun. Then pour cold water & cover them with a lid. Seeds come out with a splutter. Soak the seeds in water overnight before sowing them in seed beds or container. They germinate easily.
- Plants propagate easily in the sandy soil. Hence, it is better to mix an extra dose of sand in the growth media.
- The young saplings need staking to make them grow straight till they attain a good height.
- The tree is fast growing and re-sprouts easily if damaged.
- In order to give the best shape to show off the blooms, smaller branches should be trimmed before flowering.
- Though the tree has been introduced to India decades back it has not been exploited commercially for its wood and herbal medicines. There is a great scope for its proper utilisation by the concerned sectors.

WHERE TO SEE



One can have a magnificent look of these trees with full violet blooms at the main entrance to palace (Eastern gate). Lining behind the fort these trees provide a colourful background to gopuras. Also seen on several avenues, private gardens, parks and Manasagangothri campus as well.

'We are ever-indebted to mothers'

Writer and noted medical practitioner Dr. Vijayalakshmi Balekundri addressing the gathering at the Seminar organised as part of Bahuroopi-2022 at Rangayana premises yesterday as (from right) Dakshinamurthy Krishnakumar — who is called as 'Modern Day Shravana Kumara' — his mother Choodarathna, Rangayana Mysuru Director Addanda C. Cariappa & Deputy Director Nirmala Mathapati and Ranga Samaja Member G. Shiveshwara Gowda look on.

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (RKB&DM)- Maintaining that mother is nature, writer and noted medical practitioner Dr. Vijayalakshmi Balekundri opined that Indian culture has been able to maintain its richness because of love and affection shown by mothers and as such we are ever indebted to her. She was speaking at the seminar on the topic 'Mother' organised as part of Bahuroopi-2022 at B.V. Karanth Rangachavadi in Rangayana premises here yesterday.

Stating that a nation that has the mother's culture will survive, Dr. Vijayalakshmi observed that Indian culture has thrived because of this culture.

Pointing out that a mother throws out darkness and leads towards light, she said that the mother is a source of strength and will power.

Underlining the role of the mother in guiding her children through their growth, she said that it is very sad to note that we have lost 10 crore girl children due to female foeticide in the past 10 years. Expressing concern over rising female foeticide, she said that everyone must understand that there cannot be a world without mother.

Earlier, Choodarathna, mother of Dakshinamurthy Krishnakumar, who is called as the 'Modern Day Shravana Kumara,' inaugurated the seminar by lighting the lamp.

Dakshinamurthy Krishnakumar, writer Malathi Pattanashetty, theatre personality Abhiruchi Chandru, Journalist Amshi Prasannakumar and K. Rajalakshmi delivered talk.

'Values cannot be imbibed through plastic bottles'

Bhuvaneshwari Hegde

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (RKB&DM)- Asserting that mothers of yesteryears used to feed their children through olle (baby feeder), noted poet and humorist Bhuvaneshwari Hegde said that today, it has become common for the working woman to thrust nipple attached plastic bottles to their infants and one should wonder how such women can imbibe values in their children.

She was speaking on 'Creativity and Motherhood' at the seminar organised as part of Bahuroopi-2022 at Rangayana here yesterday.

Arguing that children used to learn values as they were fed milk through olle, she bemoaned that modernity and changing lifestyles were fast eroding the essence of motherhood.

Bhuvaneshwari Hedge, who is from Mangaluru, read out a humour poem which explains how changing notion of baby care is making our children getting less enthusiastic about their native village, place and country.

Theatre activist from Bengaluru Abhiruchi Chandru presented a paper.

WORD OF THE DAY

Cryptography

Pronunciation: krip-TAH-gruh-fee.
Meaning: Cryptography is the enciphering and deciphering of messages in secret code or cipher. It is also the computerized encoding and decoding of information.
Origin: For a word having to do with secrets, cryptography has a surprisingly transparent origin. The word comes from Greek kryptós, meaning "hidden" or "secret," and graphein, meaning "to write." Besides the familiar related words of the same origin, such as cryptic, there is krypton, the name of a colourless gaseous element used especially in some fluorescent lamps and photography flashes. The name was chosen because the gas is rare and hard to find.
Example: "Cryptocurrency is a digital currency designed to work as a medium of exchange that uses strong cryptography to secure financial transactions, control the creation of additional units and verify the transfer of assets." — Jacob Maslow

THE ODD WORD

Cabasset

Light iron helmet.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Cut to the chase

Meaning: When you use the expression 'Cut to the Chase' you mean to get to the point and leave out unnecessary details or preamble.
Origin: The phrase 'cut to the chase' originated in the American film industry, when many early movies ended in a chase scene. The first printed reference to the expression comes from script direction from the 1929 Hollywood Girl: "Jannings escapes...Cut to the chase."
Example: "Let me cut to the chase: Jennifer thinks you're mad at her!"

QUOTE BOX

Two things you will never have to chase: True friends & true love.
